Juror's Statement

The overall quality of this show made selecting winners of awards both challenging and enjoyable.

It is always a treat to view good quality art.

The variety of media, styles, and the inclusion of 3-dimensional with 2-dimensional art made the task of jurying more difficult.

I always try to judge a work on its overall impression and not technique alone. That impression is governed primarily by the flow created by light and dark shapes, the arrangement of large and small items, and the total color and value range used.
