

Free! Poetry Reading Free!

Thursday, February 14, 7:00 - 9:00 PM

Featured Poets: Mary Turzillo & Geoff Landis

Geoffrey A. Landis is a poet, a science fiction writer, and a scientist. As a poet, he's published nearly 50 poems in magazines and anthologies ranging from Asimov's Science Fiction to ArtCrimes. As a scientist, he is a researcher working at NASA Glenn, and a member of the science team for the Mars Exploration rovers mission. As a science-fiction writer, he has won the Hugo award for best short story twice, and the Nebula award once. His novel Mars Crossing from Tor books won the Locus award for best first novel in 2001, and his short story collection Impact Parameter (& Other Quantum Realities) was named as a notable book of 2001 by Publisher's Weekly.

Geoffrey lives in Berea, Ohio with his wife, writer Dr. Mary A. Turzillo. After a career as a professor of English at Kent State University, Dr. Turzillo is now a full-time writer. She has two new poetry books out: Your Cat & Other Space Aliens and Dragon Soup, the latter a collaboration with artist/poet Marge Smon. Dr. Turzillo has two previous poetry books, Galileo's Blindness, 9Bacchae Press 1994), and Lawn Party (Fantome Press 1988). Her "Mars Is No Place for Children" won the 1999 Nebula for novelette, and her novel, An Old-Fashioned Martian Girl, was serialized in Analog.

Join us at Insights Coffee & More

1661 Pearl Rd, Brunswick

February 14, 7:00 – 9:00 PM

Open Mic – Bring Your Poetry!

Please thank Insights for hosting this event by purchasing your food & drink at their counter prior to the start of the Poetry Reading.

Call Julie for info. 330-741-9362

Brought to you by

